

Fieldwork opportunity July 2019

The Cornwall Archaeological Society with the Cornwall Heritage Trust and Cornwall Archaeological Unit is in the process of organizing a fieldwork project at Trethevy Quoit. The project will involve the investigation of the field in which the quoit stands through targeted test pit excavation. It is intended that the fieldwork will take place between the 9th to the 13th of July.

The project will provide opportunities for training for volunteers, and we anticipate that there will be ten places for CAS volunteers. No previous archaeological experience is required. The booking form should be sent to the Membership Secretary, Cornwall Archaeological Society, C/O 13 Royal Cornwall Museum, River St, Truro TR1 2SJ.

Trethevy Quoit
Photograph A Jones